

Ken House

Ken House of TryCycle Data Systems has a long background in public relations, corporate communications, executive operations, and public service. An alumnus of Georgetown University and The Graduate Institute, Ken's personal mission is empowering people in need through service.