

Jennifer Marshall

Jennifer Marshall is the daughter and sister to family members struggling with addiction. Jennifer lost her father Jim to a polysubstance use disorder in 2016. His long battle with the disease resulted in Jennifer shouldering the responsibility of playing a major role in raising her two siblings from a young age. Jennifer's sister Kate has also struggled with opioid addiction for almost 20 years. Throughout Kate's struggle with addiction, Jennifer has taken on the role of caregiver and legal guardian to Kate's 2-year-old son Mason. Jennifer shares Mason's story and the effects of opioid addiction on his development in hopes of bringing attention to this important issue. Jennifer and her husband Todd continue to care and fight for Mason every day to ensure his well-being.
